Methodology

Each quarter, we field our main Core survey in 49 markets. We also run a shorter mobile version of the same survey in 53 markets (including Ghana, Kenya, Morocco and Nigeria).

Most respondents see the main Core survey, with the rest seeing the shorter mobile version, which has been optimized for smaller screens and contains slightly fewer questions. Around half of the main survey respondents then go on to complete the brand & media module – a recontact survey containing additional questions on brand engagement and media consumption. These three components make up our Core study, and are combined and presented as a single data set in our platform.

Throughout this document, questions asked in both the mobile and the main survey are marked by an asterisk *, while questions asked in brand & media are indicated by two asterisks **.

*Appears in both the mobile and main survey; Appears in the brand & media module recontact survey
